CITY ITEMS.

As we expected, yesterday was far hotter than the day before. All the afternoon the mercury was standing at and about 90 degrees. There was very little wind, and the sun was intensely hot. Thus far it was the hottest day of the season. At 9 c'clock the Western horizon was all a blaze with lightning, and the black and heavy clouds gave promise of a copious shower of rain.

BULL'S HEAD .- Somewhat unexpectedly to those who held on on Tuesday for better prices for beef catile, the second day of the market in Forty-fourth street, it proved to be decidedly worse; and, on the whole, prices have ruled lower than at any time since the upward movement commenced-say for the last four months-lower than what drovers thought a " ruinously low market" last week. By referring to our table of quotations in the report of the cattle market, it will be seen that we have reduced the figures half a cent a pound upon all grades, though the greatest depression is really upon the poorest sort, some o which are reported at not over seven cents a pound net, while really good butchers' cattle sold for 10 a 11c , and some extra good at a still higher figure-for once making a just and proper difference between good and poor beef. The weather was excessively warm, and butchers quite disinclined to buy cattle at any price, only so far as required for the retail tradethe wholesale butchers, it being understood, were suffering sadly in Washington Market. At 4 o'clock, it appearing quite impossible to self out all the stock in the yards, owners began to turn out the remains of droves to grass, and we should not be surprised to hear that, before sundown, some 800 or 400 were turned out. It is generally anticipated that the shipments from the West next week will be very light.

RAILROAD PACILITIES FOR THE FOURTH OF JULY. Several persons have requested us to urge the Harlem Railroad managers to run a late evening train up and down to White Plains on the Fourth of Juy. But we suppose they know their own business, and we do not see any more reason for extra accommodation on that road than upon the New-Haven, Hudson River, Long Island, Flushing, and the Jersey roads; though we believe the accommodations for late travelers are already better upon all the Jersey roads than they are on this side of the Hudson. We will however suggest that a train leaving White Plains on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, and returning at 10 or 101, would give great satisfaction to persons who desire to leave the city in the morning and return in the cooler part of the evening; and a train leaving at 10, or after from the Centre-street Station would enable a great many country people to come down and " see the Fourth of July," and stay till the fireworks were burned out, and then go home before midnight. We have no doubt such an extra would pay, provided it is determined upon in time and properly advertised. The New-Haven Road should also put on a similar extra as far as Norwalk, or, perhaps, Bridgeport, and the Hudson River Railroad, as extra to Sing Sing or Peekshill. Of course, as usual, the roads will issue excursion tickets. Let us know, gentlemen, what you will do, as soon as possible.

Excussion.-The Sabbath-School connected with the Seamen's M. E. Chapel, Cherry street, made their excursion to Biddle's Grove on Tuesday. From 1,200 to 1,500 persons composed the company. The steam boat Erie was chartered for the occasion. Every-thing passed off in the most agreeable manner, and the large and respectable company returned safely to the city about 6 o'clock in the evening, highly delighted with their days' recreation. On board the boat a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to Police Captains Cameron and Hartt, and several officers under their command, for their attention and valuable assistance in guarding the safety of the children, and adding to the comfort of all on board.

CRICKET MATCHES -On Saturday the Germantown Club, composed entirely of American players, with the exception of their professional, play the first Eleven of the New-York Club on the ground of the latter, at Hoboken. On Monday and Tuesday next. eighteen American players have a match with eleven English players at the same place, both parties being selected from the prominent Clubs throughout the States. These matches will be among the most interesting of the season, and almost decisive of the present ability of Americans to compete with Englishmen in this game. We understand that the much-talked-of, long-doubted match between the celebrated Eleven of England and twenty-two selected from the States bill, in all probability, come off during the Fall, at BILLIARDS .- Mr. Frank Parker of Janesville, Wistensin, the man who lately made a carom run of 5,117 points, according to the veracious Wisconsin papers, is to play a match at Milwaukee, on the 12th prox. with Silas Coan of Racine, Wisconsin, 1,000 points up, 1300 a side, the full game to be played. If Mr. Frank Parker can run 5,000 points in the carom game, we may expect to hear of his making an uninterrupted of a couple of weeks or so, when he plays a fall sme on a pocket table.

THE SAYARS AND HERNAN FIGHT. -There is nothing pew about this little dispute. Another deposit of £25 was made on June 7.

ANOTHER HOMICIDE. -- On Tuesday night, Policeman Bradley, of the Seventeenth Precinct, was accosted on the corner of Essex and Stanton s'reets by a man named Benjamin Christopher, who appeared to be very unwell. He stated to the officer that he had been engaged in a row at a grocery in Orchard street and that he had been pushed so violently out of the place that he fell to the sidewalk, striking upon his head. The officer conducted him to his residence, No 154 Orchard street, and a physician was called, but he died the following day. The officer then went in search of the person who had assaulted deceased, and arrested Jacob Sterner as the man, and he was locked up for examination. Coroner O'Keefe was notified. and will hold an inquest upon the body of deceased today, when the facts of the case will probably be

THE FOURTH WARD HOMICIDE.-Coroner Schirmer yesterday held an inquest at the New-York Hos pital upon the body of James Boston, the colored man who died from a stab received on Tuesday afternoon. while in a fight with Richard A. Eddy, also colored at the corner of Front street and Peck slip, as previously reported. That deceased gave the first cause of offense which resulted in the fatal encounter there remains but very little doubt. Eddy alleges that he was first assaulted by Boston, who struck him several powerful blows before he retaliated or used the knife. The Jury believed the statement of the prisoner, and if corroborative testimony to that effect had been presented, doubtless a verdict of justifiable homicide would have been rendered; but, in the absence of such testimony, the Jury had no alternative but to render a verdict against the prisoner. Below will be found the most material portions of the testimony adduced the most material portions of the testimony adduced:

Wm. B. Marshall being sworn, deposes and says—I am clerk at No. 259 Front street; yesterday about 3
o clock as I was returning from the bank I saw prioner and deceased crossing Peck slip at Front street;
they appeared to be quarreling, calling each other liars; after they got on the sidewalk prisoner's coat and endeavor to lead him on; I then saw that the pr soner had a knife in his hand, which I had not observed before, and that he struck at deceased's hand while he had hold of his coat with the knife; the deceased then said. "Do you see that?" and he then rolled up the had hold of his coal with the kine; the occased the said, "Do you see that?" and he then rolled up the sleeve of one arm and struck at the prisoner; I could not say that he hit him; immediately afterward deceased immped back and exclaimed, "Im stabbed;" he reeled around for a moment and then feil to the John Delany, an officer of the Fourth Precinct, John Delany, an officer of the Fourth Precent, sworn.—About 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, I was at Peck-slip Ferry, when a Mr. Smith came and told me that one man had stabbed another up the street; I went to the corner of Front street and Peck-slip, and saw deceased lying in the street, and a-ked who had stabbed him; the prisoner immediately answered, "I am the man, I did not give him as much as I intended; am the man, I did not give him as much as I intended; he has shanghaed me once, and told me that he intended to do it again; 'I immediately arrested the man who had the knite in his hand and was in the act of putting it in his pocket, but as I grabbed his hand he willingly gave it to me; the knite was then closed: deceased and prisoner were then taken to the Station-House, and from thence transferred, the deceased to the Hospital, and the prisoner to the tombs.

Wm. Smith of Williamsburgh was near when the quarrel took place between deceased and Eddy, and saw Boston strike at the prisoner, but cannot say that he hit him.

he hit him. George F. Sheady, M. D., Resident Surgeon of the Hospital, testified that deceased was admitted to that institution with a penetrating wound of the abdomen, the wound being 12 or 12 inches in length; the patient continued to sink, and died soon after admission.

This closed the testimony, and the case was given to the Jury, who rendered a verdict as follows:

"That James Boston came to his death by a stab in the abdomen from a knife in the hands of Richard Allen Eddy, June 28, 1859."
The accused was then examined according to law.

He is a barber or cook, 38 years of age, and was born in Columbia, Lancaster County, Pa. When asked what he had to say relative to the charge, he replied: I was aggravated and assaulted, and I did it in selfdefense; I did not know that I did it until deceased said it himself." The accused was then committed to the Tombs to awai; the action of the Grand Jury.

He was barber on board the United States steamship Niagara at the time of laying the telegraph cable, and, for an excellent character, refers to Capt. Hudson, and other officers of the Niagara. Deceased was 46 years of age, and a native of New-Jersey. The frank and apparently honest manner in which Eddy answered all questions promulgated, excited sympathy for him, not only by the Jury but also many others in attendance on the examination.

How BURGLARIES ARK COMMITTED,-William Hughes, the confederate of Thomas Kelly and John P. Gordon in numerous burglaries in this city, was brought before Justice Brennan yesterday for exam-ination, on the charge of breaking into the house of William Rhinelander, on the night of the 234 inst., and stealing nearly $300 from his secretaire. A very pretty girl named Julia Kemp, now an inmate of the House of Detention, No. 88 White street, was brought into Court as a witness against the prisoner. In view of the important nature of her testimony, the Magistrate had her examination in chief taken by a clerk in a private room, much against the will of Mr. Spencer, counsel for Hughes, who loudly inveighed against what he was pleased to term "an unprecedented Star-chamber proceeding." The witness is her testimony stated that she had known the prisoner for two years as a thief, and that he was in the habit of waiting upon her at her places of service. Having recently been engaged in Mr. Rhinelander's family a wet-nurse, Hughes called to see her several times, and inquired particularly as to whether Mr. Rhinelander ever kept a large sum of money in his house, and where he kept it. She told him that she did not know how much money he usually had on him, but that he kept it in a certain drawer in his writing desk, and enjoined the prisoner, if he broke into the place, to be sure that he broke open the other drawers as well, so as to divert suspicion from her. Having made this statement, which was reduced to writing, she was brought into court, and required by the Justice to swear to its correcness. At this juncture Hughes made a significant jesture, when she refused to take the oath. Judge Brennan thereupon remanded the prisoner, and Kelly. who was with him, to the Tombs, and sent the girl back to the witness prison. Hughes wishing to re-tain his ascendancy over her, told Speccer to be sure to get the girl out of custody on a writ of habeas corpus, at once. No doubt Mr. Spencer will endeavor to do so early this morning; but meanwhile the Judge has circumvented him by taking new evidence which warrants him in holding Hughes as principal, and the girl as accessory. We are informed that the burglars have servant girls in their employ all over the city, from whom they obtain all the information they require as to the value of their employer's property and the place, in which they keep it. It is probable that having gone thus far some of them do not hesitate to assist the thieves in gaining access to the

" DUBLIN TRICKS" WHIPPED,-Mr. Win. Hastings, or "Dublin Tricks," as he is familiarly called, who was one of Morrissey's seconds at the time of the Heenan fight, has had a fight of his own. The officer found $30 in the woman's stocking, and two $20 gold pieces in the room; the other $10 was not found. Justice Brennen committed Miss Clark for STARBING AFFRAY -Just before moon, yesterday, John Madden of Cherry street, and John Doran, met at the porter-bouse of Thos. Smith, No. 61 Gonve-neur street, when Doran accused Madden of having insulted some females who were in his company at an excursion the previous day. Madden replied by clinching with Doran, and striking him five or six times with a dirk in the face and temples. The assailant was arrested by Officers Potter and Moran of the Seventh Ward. Doran could not appear against him in consequence of his icjuries, but he was committed by Justice Brennan for trial.

OUR FERRIES.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune Sin: Passing on to a boat of one of our not-muchfrequented ferries, the other morning, I noticed at the farther end, seated outside the inclosure which is dignified by the title of Ladies' Cabin (and which, by the way, locks like the roof of a new rustic cottage at every shower), a poor woman, with a little sickly babe at her breast, and another a year or two old, seated by her side. The mother had evidently resorted to this cheap method of giving her little ones that fresh air cheap method of giving her little ones that fresh air so necessary to recruit their enfeebled bodies, and which, in the close basement or hot garret where they are probably domiciled, it would be rather difficult to obtain. Really, thought I, this speaks well for the liberality of the Ferry Company Who will say, hereafter, that corporations have no souls? Here is a poor woman crossing to and fro on one of their boats, and for the moderate change of 2 or 3 cents, inhaing the life-giving breezes (I believe that is the phrase) of our glorious river, and restoring the bloom to the cheek our glerious river, and restoring the bloom to the cheek, new luster to the eyes, and strength to the brain of the new inster to the eyes, and strength to the brain of the little creatures, so helpless and dependent. I could have embraced the stalwart dock hand whom I saw approaching, and congustulated him upon the humarity of his employers. But what do I hear? "Look 'ere, mr'am, 'twoul' do to 'ave you crossin' backward and forward on this 'ere beat for neutific.' go sabore and pay your fare." This, uttered in some such tone as the amissible Bill Svice would use in addressing his dog, rather tended to dissipate the pheasant train of thought I was induiting in, and give them a different turn shoughter. Certainly, 'twou't do! What a soft headed neodel I have been! Compelimetro go ahous and pay her fare at every trip, and see that one of the canidren, at least, pay heli-pide. And, Messieurs Directors, when you have risidly enforced this rule, say until the close of this Sun mer, when poor folks will not require to travel on your boats for firsh air, will you not expend your largely increasing receipts in the porchase of a histoput; and plant for the rasks of your cables, so that passet gers can at least fold up their umbrollas on entering them of a rainy day.

RUFFIANISM ON A FERRY BOAT. To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune.

Sin: An article in vesterday's TRIBUNE, headed Roffianism on a ferry boat," induces me to ask the writer a few questions; (I presume he is a gentleman, as he speaks about ruffians in contradistinction to imself and others on board.)

If a gentleman was attacked "by four or five If a gentleman was attacked "by four or five "ruffians," in the presence of "several bundred quiet "and peaceably disposed citizens," would be not expect assistance from a few of those in my opinion not very good citizens? Does not he feel ashamed of his pussiminity in not helping a "quiet, inoffensive nam" when stracked "by four or five ruffisms." Which of the two had the least of a "human appearance," the man attacked, or the "quiet, peace-"able citizens" who wrote the brave letter alluded to! Are "several hundred quiet and peaceably-disposed citizens" of New-York not disposed to protect themselves against four or five row dies, or a match for them? Does the writer not know that every man who saw that breach of the peace, was as much a policeman as if he had an appointment from the Board of Metropolitan Police Commissioners, and that an arrest by him would be as legal as by a man with a blue cost and brase buttons, and that it was his duty as a peaceable citizen, to arrest such a disturber of the peace.

Such a party of peaceable citizens as were on that boat should each have a special officer to follow and protect him.

Would the writer of that letter allow a pickpocket to put his hand in his pocket and take his money because no policeman was present!

Would not the writer like to have an appointment on the police.

was present?
Would not the writer like to have an appointment on the police force in order that, on any future occasion, he might legally render assistance to a follow man in trouble?

This came has been referred to before. The following is the opinion delivered by the Justice:
HOFFMAN, J.—The application is for a stay of proceedings or a

Richard Rostead, eag. In such counsel.
It appears by the sliddavit read in opposition, that the present appearing in the action, and that Mr. Besteed has given his assent thereto in writing. Such assent has been produced, and is as

By the Charter of April 14, 1957, there was created an executive department of the corporation, known as the Law Department, which should have the charge of and conduct all the law business of the corporation and of the departments thereof, and all other law business in which the city shall be interested, and the chief officer thereof should be called Counsel to the Corporation, (sec. 20). Such counsel was to be elected by the people, (sec. 10) and to hold for a given term unless removed for cause. Richard Busteed now fills and did fill such office at the institution of this suit.

Rectard Busieve now its wife to common Council was empowered to establish other Bureaus as they may deem the public interest may require, and to assign to them, and to the Departments and may require and to assign to them, and to the Departments and may require and to assign to them, and to the Departments and may require a such duties as they may direct, not inconsistent with that act, and the duties thereof shall be performed in accordance with the charter and laws and ordinance.

inape establishing or defining the powers of the Law sub or the powers of its officer, has been produced. No ordinance establishing or defining the powers of the Law Department, or the powers of its officer, has been produced. I am not at liberty to notice any which may exist. It may be that the Common Council have, expressly or by a warrantable inference, authorized the counsel to delegate his power to appear to grother. I must assume that the present counsel considers that he does not possess that authority, and I have nothing before me to justify the commission that his view of his official duty is incorrect. The argument, therefore, that he is dotherlywith a trust of office which he cannot give to another, so far, at least, as an appearance on the record is concerned, cannot avail. Motion denied, without costs.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Day agt. Roth.

In order to constitute a trust in respect to money or personal estate, no formal or written agreement is necessary. Any declaration or admission by the person in possession of the fund will have that effect, if founded on a consideration, and if intention be evined with sufficient clearness.

And such declarations or admissions are evidence of the trust, not only against the party who made them, but also for the purpose of classing lands atterward purchased by another person, and wholly or partly paid for out of the trust fund.

V. W. R. having in his hands £1,500, lately received from the plantiff in England, wrote to her a letter containing an admission that he had the money for lovestment on the interpret to the fund, which was sent to him accordingly. It did not otherwise appear upon what understanding he had received the money. Afterward, the $1,500 was invested in the purpose of which was taken to his brother. N. chargeable with an equitable lien in her tayor in the nature of resulting trust. A general objection to a series of letters offered in evidence is properly overmised, if any one of the series is evidence for any purpose; and on a review of the trial it cannot be objected that the Judge should have limited the effect of such letters as evidence to the particular purpose for which they or any of them was properly admissible.

A person whose lands are charged with an equitable lien undertakes to deliver his own notes for a part of the sum, and to procure and deliver the bond of another person for the residue. The creditor agrees to anocyt these obligations in settlement of the claim, but, on the same being tendered, refuses to receive them. Such an accord is not a satisfaction of the lien.

COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

WEDNESDAY, June 29-F. M.

Stocks were quite strong this morning, taking into consideration the extreme heat of the day, and the general disinclination to enter into speculative operations at this season of the year. The market is still very dull, but there seems to be little or no effort on the part of bear operators against an advance, and the demand from the shorts has alone been sufficient to give prices a more faverable turn. Meanwhile, however, the old cliques which for a time worked with commendable perseverance for a rise, appear to have discontinued their operations, and the market without any particular bolstering, seems to be gradually working up. The tone of the dealings, however, is spiritless, and there is nothing in the character of the movements which conveys the impression that we are to witness anything approaching to speculative activity at present. Michigan Southern Guaranteed was the most prominent stock at the First Board, and was rather heavy in early transactious, but before the call closed it was in better demand and closed at 27 |. The accident on this road, so far as we can judge from the telegraphic accounts, has not been exaggerated. New-York Central was firm until afternoon, when prices gave way again and sales were made as low as 72%, a decline of $ from moraing prices. A rumor was in circulation in the street that the late arrangement between the four lines, from east to west, was in danger of rupture, but we can find no authority for such a report, and presume it to be without foundation. There was no important change in other leading stocks dealt in at the First Board, but in nearly every instance the tendency was to better quotations. Delaware and Hudson advanced to 894 with moderate sales, but was a fraction lower in the afternoon. The trade in State Stocks was to a fair extent in the morning, at about the prices of yesterday, but later in the day there was a strong de monstration against Missouri 6s, which declined to 861, with sales of $115,600. This was the most important feature of the business at the Second Board, but the whole market was heavy, as compared with morning prices, and the strength shown in the morning seemed to have partially disappeared. Illinois Central was firmer through both sessions, and there was a good demand for Norwich and Worcester, at 36. Hurlem Preferred was steady at 351. The closing prices were: For Missouri 6s, 861 @ 861; Virginia 6s, 96] 297; New-York Central Railroad, 72] 2734; Erie Railroad, 61361; Harlem Railroad, 91310; Harlem Railroad Preferred, 35;235; Had-on River Railroad, 31;231; Reading Railroad,

Opposition to the scheme for leasing the Eric Road for a series of years is springing up in the quarter where it was acticipated. We trust this matter will receive due consideration, and that if the best interests of the road will be advanced by it, that no personal considerations will be allowed to prevent its consummation.
